Gregorian Chant Workshop

Sponsored by the Florida Chapter of Church Music Association of America in conjunction with the
Farquhar College of Arts and Sciences
at Nova Southeastern University in Fort Lauderdale

Friday, March 6th – Saturday, March 7th, 2009

About the Conference:

This two-day workshop will present both beginning and advanced musicians with rehearsals and lectures that will enrich their knowledge of Gregorian chant and its use in the Roman Catholic liturgy.

Led by a faculty of chant specialists from around the state, attendees will learn more about the history of Gregorian chant and its role in the liturgy as well as experience the chant in the context of both the Divine Office and the Mass. Beginning chanters will be introduced to the basics of notation and rhythm according to the Solesmes method. Experienced chanters will learn new repertoire and advance their understanding of rhythmic and interpretive nuance. Resources and practical methods for the cultivation of Gregorian chant in the life of the parish will also be discussed.

This workshop is ideal for choir members, parish music directors, music students, teachers, parents, seminarians and anyone who is interested in learning about the heritage of sacred music within the Roman Catholic Church.

Registration:

Registration fees are $35 and include the price of instructional materials and instruction. Participants are responsible for all their meals and housing during the conference. Payment is due upon arrival at the conference.

Pre-registration is required.

Deadline: Friday, February 27th, 2009

Registration is available at: www.musicasacra.com/florida.

Faculty:

Susan Treacy – Ave Maria University, Ave Maria, FL

Susan Treacy, Ph.D., joined the faculty as Professor of Sacred Music after having taught at Franciscan University of Steubenville and Luther College. She holds the Ph.D. in historical musicology from the University of North Texas, the M.Mus. in opera from the Manhattan School of Music, and the B.Mus. in voice from Oberlin College Conservatory of Music. Her research interests are in Catholic liturgical music and English devotional song, and besides having published scholarly articles, Dr. Treacy writes a regular column, "Musica Donum Dei," for the Saint Austin Review (StAR). As a performer Dr. Treacy directs the Women's Schola Gregoriana at AMU. While at Franciscan University she directed the Schola Cantorum Franciscana and she was a section leader and soloist with the Bach Choir of Pittsburgh. She was a member of the editorial committee for The Adoremus Hymnal and is on the board of the Church Music Association of America.

Michael O'Connor – Palm Beach Atlantic University, West Palm Beach, FL

Dr. O'Connor joined the Palm Beach Atlantic University faculty in 2007 and currently teaches music history, world music, music appreciation, and directs the PBA Early Music Ensemble. His research has explored the intersections of musical composition and historical theology in medieval and Renaissance Spain, and he has presented his research to conferences in the U.S., Belgium, Portugal, and England. Dr. O'Connor's publications have appeared in the New Grove Dictionary of Music and Musicians, Second Edition; The Alamire Foundation Proceedings, and Medieval Perspectives. His history of the euphonium appears in Guide to the Euphonium Repertoire: The Euphonium Source Book, (Indiana University Press). Currently he is working on a collection of essays that focuses on music for the Divine Office in Spain and Latin America. His interest in Catholic sacred music led him to create a Gregorian schola cantorum in the Palm Beach area.

Mary Jane Ballou – St. Augustine Schola Cantorae, St. Augustine, FL

Mary Jane Ballou performs professionally on the Celtic harp and a wire-strung salterio built by the Benedictine monks of the Abbaye of En Calcat in France. Currently based on St. Augustine, Florida, Miss Ballou performs throughout the Southeast. Her recordings are available online at CD Baby. Miss Ballou also produces and hosts the Classical Fan Club, a weekly radio show featuring music "off the beaten track" on Flagler College Radio, WFCF St. Augustine 88.5. She is also the founder and director of the new St. Augustine Schola Cantorae, a women's ensemble dedicated to Gregorian chant and polyphony.

Jennifer Donelson – Nova Southeastern University, Fort Lauderdale, FL

Jennifer Donelson received her DMA in Piano Performance from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and has studied with Paul Barnes, Mark Clinton, and Quentin Faulkner. A specialist in the piano works and writings of Olivier Messiaen, she has lectured on and given performances of portions of the Vingt Regards sur l'Enfant-Jésus throughout the United States, France and Mexico. Dr. Donelson has been awarded numerous academic fellowships, as well as a grant supporting her research at the Bibliothèque Nationale de France on the controversy surrounding the premiere of Messiaen's Vingt Regards. She is the founding director of the Cor Immaculatae Schola Cantorum, a professional vocal ensemble dedicated to the performance of Gregorian chant and sacred polyphony. She also currently directs scholae cantorum for both the extraordinary and ordinary forms of the Mass at St. Michael the Archangel and St. Robert Bellarmine parishes in Miami.
